

Relationships beyond the transactional

M&A | M&I Transaction Support

Our seasoned mergers and acquisitions (M&A) and mergers and integrations (M&I) resources have experience successfully coordinating, managing and implementing strategy, operations, systems and staff. This corporate, hands-on experience in highly acquisitive companies means efficiency and effectiveness that routinely saves our clients time and money.

Our M&A and M&I clients not only expect a high level of technical transaction experience but also a significant level of “political savvy” that will help throughout the acquisition and/or integration process.

Our M&A professionals also support departments in transition, having dealt with both planned and unplanned departures common to merger and integration deal structure.
